Last Murder Hoax Prankster Leaves Jail In Bristol

The last of four youths arrested and fined for his part in a "trunk murder" hoax was released from Bristol borough jail last night upon payment of a $100 fine and $7.50 costs.

Edward Creamer, 18, of 303 Wallace avenue, Cornwells Heights, was released.

Always tough to beat the pros when the pressure's the greatest. In any event, it won't be long until we know.

Eisenhower and Stevenson, a couple of old pros in their own right, begin swinging at each other.

The president in his Peoria speech scathingly indicts past and present Democratic policies while Adlai down in Miami does some pretty plain and straight-from-the-shoulder talking about segregation.

Looks like the campaign is beginning to warm up.

Also there's a bit of warming up being done right here in Bucks county, even though all of it isn't quite as above board as the voters themselves would wish.

We'll say one thing: The whole county should do its hat to Judge Rubin for the way he's handling these drunk driving cases.

The jurist has been tossing the book at the tipsy boys and that should be most encouraging to other motorists as well as police agencies over the entire county trying to drive the drunks off the highways.

United Community Fund campaign going into extra-high gear as date for the opening gun nears and it should be quite a drive.

It will be, never fear. And it will be because the public itself has never been known to let an essential and worthy cause down.

A change of lipstick now and then is relished by the best of men.

Then there was the New Yorker who went crazy in the Moscow subway. All the pictures already had mustaches.

Residential Drive Vital To United Fund Success

500 Civic Workers Set Initial Plans

Mrs. James Douglass Readies Group For Kickoff Monday Night

An intensive organizational effort for the Residential Division of the $603,000 United Community Fund campaign was under way today under the direction of Mrs. James S. Douglass, chairman for the division.

Mrs. Douglass met yesterday with her key district chairmen and under the guidance of United Fund Executive Director Adrian Hoffman mapped preliminary plans for the residential drive covering every community in Lower Bucks county.

More than 500 public-spirited men and women will make up Mrs. Douglass' drive personnel with this phase of the campaign regarded as one of the keys to success of the whole fund-raising effort.

Assisting Mrs. Douglass in creating the effective community organizations whose campaign will begin October 15, are Mrs. James Hiltner, of Morrisville; Mrs. Robert Hoff, of Cornwells Heights; Mrs. W. David Price, of Levittown; and Mrs. Robert A. Sheeran, of Newtown.

Additional district chairmen will be appointed immediately and then community captains named.

Dinner at Flannery's As Mrs. Douglass' division moved into high organizational gear, other divisions of the Lower Bucks county campaign team were getting ready for the general campaign kickoff next Monday.

The drive will be formally launched with a campaign dinner meeting at Flannery's with more than 200 leaders expected to attend, including division personnel and the scores of plant chairmen who have accepted responsibility.

Flossy's Rain Due Here Tonight

Hurricane Flossy was forecast to blow and rain on Lower Bucks County today and tonight while passing off the New Jersey Coast.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said Flossy, now off the Carolina Coast, should pass clear of this area with only a comparatively mild "backlash." Tomorrow's forecast calls for slowly clearing weather.

The wind and rain may be heavy here, however, in eastern counties of Pennsylvania.

'Dancing In The Nude'

2 Croydon Youths Placed On Probation For Enticing Girl

Two Croydon youths yesterday paid a costly price for a ring-side seat at which they watched a young girl "dancing in the nude."

The "performance" lasted intermittently over a 12-hour period, but the youths learned different words for it yesterday, "contributing to the delinquency of a minor."

The youths, John Kelly, 21, of First avenue and State road, and James Carmody, 19, of 1312 Dixon avenue, paid for it with a restriction on their liberty for the next two years.

Both were placed on 23 months parole by Judge I. Louis Rubin and were also ordered to pay costs of prosecution.

They admitted "watching" and "dancing with a nude, 15-year-old Croydon girl on different occasions between 8 p. m. July 7 and 8:30 a. m. July 8.

The girl said she was "tricked into undressing" and that the boys "repeatedly tried to rape" her. The youths steadfastly said that

Pool Request Turned Down In Morrisville

Lack of Finances Causes Refusal By Council Committee

We don't have the money.

That was the story last night at a meeting of the public properties committee in rejecting the Morrisville Community Swimming Pool Commission's request for extensive improvements of the swimming pool park area.

Public Properties Committee Chairman Neal Nolan told his committee that the request for piping alone would cost $6,000. "That coupled with $1,735 for an improved black-top parking area, would make the project entirely out of the question for this year and maybe next year, too."

The Commission had requested that Williamson Park be converted into a well-rounded recreational area by extending northward and possibly southward the large pipe now piping the back channel, and eliminating the ditch on the north side of the pool area.

Parking Area The Commission also requested the park area on the south side of the pool be black-topped for a parking area. The Commissioners also asked for grass planting, playground equipment, and benches and tables.

Mr. Nolan, in rejecting the requests, said that there is nothing the committee would like to recommend to council better than the requested improvements, but, "We have no money at the present time."

He said the creek bed has to

Public Employees Set $24,000 Goal

Officials of each of Lower Bucks County's boroughs and townships, with representatives of state, federal, military and social service agencies and public utilities will meet in Pennel tomorrow night to plan an expanded Public Service Division drive in the Bucks County United Community Fund.

Division Chairman Joseph F. Hulihan, manager of the Bristol office of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, said this will be the first time the drive in Lower Bucks has extended to employees of the local governments.

As leaders in Mr. Hulihan's Public Service division, the representatives will begin work Monday, opening day in the United Fund drive. Their goal is $24,000 of the $603,000 total campaign goal in this year's Bucks County drive. Drive Starts Monday The campaign will be launched Monday night in simultaneous kickoff dinners in Lower, Middle and Upper Bucks county.

Noting that local government is becoming an increasingly bigger business in Lower Bucks County, with borough and township police, highway and other departments ever expanding to meet the needs of growing populations, Mr. Hulihan said the total work force now runs into the hundreds.

Each post office of Lower Bucks County is being asked to select a representative to solicit United Fund gifts from the employees.

Gov. Leader Asked To Aid Rt. 13 Talks

County commissioners announced yesterday that they have requested a meeting with Gov. George Leader and the secretary of highways to discuss the proposed extension of Route 13 to Yardley.

The commissioners have received no answer to date, but they expect to have a hearing on the matter shortly.

The request to Gov. Leader was prompted by many telegrams opposing the extension which were sent to the commissioners.

Chief objection, according to the commissioners, is that the extension, dubbed Legislative Route 778-4, would cut into "the fine residential area of Lower Makefield and Yardley."

The commissioners said the county planning commission has had an alternate Route "on the boards" for years, but the state highway department has ignored it.

In fact, contracts have already been awarded for the extension route, and work is expected to start shortly, the commissioners said.

They hope to offset it through the meeting with Leader.

Group Opposed The Fairfield Terrace Civic Association of Lower Makefield Township went on record last week as opposing the announced extension plan. The group, meeting with other Lower Makefield Township civic organizations, sent telegrams to Gov. Leader, Bucks County Commissioner John Welsh, Senator Edward B. Watson, Rep. A. Patrick Brenner, and Marvin Keller, protesting the proposed route.

The combined organizations said the route would cut through valuable farm and residential sections, lower the valuation, and causing undue hardships to area residents.

The alternate route, proposed by the civic groups, would have Route 13 pass west of major developments and the center of Yardley.

Board Urges Purchase Of Silver Lake

County Commissioners Asked To Buy Twp. Site For Park Program

A major step was taken Monday night at the meeting of the Bucks County Park Board when it voted to recommend to the county commissioners to purchase Silver Lake in Bristol township from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

In addition, the board voted last week to recommend that $15,000 of its 1956 funds be set aside to match a like amount to be furnished by Bristol township and Bristol borough to improve recreational facilities at Silver Lake.

"The board felt, that because of the wide interest in improving Silver Lake and its present but unauthorized use for recreational purposes, it would be a good first step in developing a long-range park program for the county," Chairman William F. Taylor said.

Steel Tax Appeal Set For Court

Action Taken As Bucks Board Rejects Plea On Higher Assessment

Dissatisfied with the rejection of their tax assessment appeals by the Bucks County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes, Falls township officials plan to ask the court to overrule the county group.

Chairman Milton Berkes, of the township supervisors, said his board has instructed the township solicitor to prepare a court appeal and confer with the school board solicitor on joint action. Mr. Berkes said the other two township board members have agreed they should continue to press their appeal on the assessment of the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp.

John T. Welsh, chairman of the county tax board, yesterday announced the rejection of the Falls appeals of 1957 tax assessments on the steel plant and on the Thriftmart and Fairless Hills Shopping Center.

Figures Upheld

Mr. Welsh commented only that the figures of Chief County Assessor James Nealis were upheld, and that the county board has the owners' receipts for building and land costs, from which the assessments were made.

The school board had joined the supervisors in appealing the Fairless Works assessment, and also contested the figures on Thriftmart and the Shopping Center.

The steel plant is assessed at a $75,221,500 market value, the shopping center at $1,267,800.

Appeals by the school board and supervisors were heard by the county board in Doylestown last Friday.

Alvan Neeld, school board president, this morning said he personally favors following through with the appeal, and will soon discuss it with his board.

"My personal opinion is that the assessments are too low," Mr. Neeld said. "We have felt that way all along."

Mr. Berkes said he was informed of the steel plant appeal's rejection by a letter postmarked at 6 p. m. last Friday.

"The appeal hearing began at 9 a. m. Friday and was through at 11 o'clock," Mr. Berkes said. "The county board heard the appeals on the Thriftmart and Fairless Hills Shopping Center that afternoon. In question whether they gave it sufficient consideration, I

Low Cost School Sought By Falls

The Falls Township School board voted to have Medil Bair, regional superintendent of the Pennsylvania School System, file plans in Harrisburg, seeking state approval on a series of low cost, eight classroom buildings to alleviate the crowded conditions in the township's large elementary schools.

to plead guilty, the district attorney's office agreed to withdraw all but the contributing to the delinquency charge, and the youths were tried on that one only.

The strange and sometimes startling case came to light on July 8, when the girl's father told Bristol Township Patrolman Wallace Michener she had been missing all night.

The girl returned home of her own volition on the morning of July 8, and police and her father questioned her.

She first said she stayed at a friend's house, but when her father threatened to take her to the friend, she told him what had happened.

In a statement to police, the girl said Kelly picked her up at 8 p. m. while her father was out.

She said she and Kelly went along the Pennsylvania railroad after leaving the house and that Kelly tried to get her to go to his room.

Purchase Beer

Failing that, she said Kelly then suggested they attend a "party" at Carmody's house. Carmody's mother was in Cape May, N. J., at the time.

She agreed, and together with Carmody and another girl, they purchased some beer and returned to Carmody's house.

When Carmody took his girl home, Kelly and the 15-year-old remained at the house. At this point, she said Kelly forced her onto the living room floor and tried to rape her.

She said she struggled, but Kelly tore off her underclothes and then tried to get her to go to the bedroom with him.

"Led On"

The courtroom was filled with character witnesses for Kelly and Carmody, and those who testified said they both "enjoyed excellent reputations in the community." They said they knew of no other instances when the two had gotten into trouble with the police.

Carmody's mother also testified in his behalf.

Attorney William Goldman, Doylestown, their attorney, said "Let's say they were led on by this young lady."

He also said no purpose would be accomplished by sending them to jail.

Judge Rubin replied, "I'm tempted to send them to jail, but I'm taking into consideration the fact that they've never been in trouble before."

The judge warned, however, that he was "serving notice that any woman under 16 years isn't fair game, even though she represents herself as 'tough.'"

Women of Christ Lutheran church, Lakeside drive, held a "come-as-you-are" breakfast this morning in the Sunday School rooms of the building. Members of the committee planning the affair held the date a surprise until this morning when they knocked on the door of each member's home and told them to come to the breakfast dressed as they were. Thirty adults and 17 children attended the affair. Buns, coffee, and milk were served. Housecoats and pajamas predominated.

Mrs. Rosinola, 63 Rolling lane, went to visit her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Bennett, 59 Rolling lane, recently.

Upon entering the Bennett garage, the amazed Mrs. Rosinola came face to face with a not so coy little skunk. After a nip and tuck fight she finally caught it. But the animal didn't appreciate Mrs. Rosinola's generous intentions to return him to his natural environment.

You can guess what happened. Of course, Mrs. Rosinola had to burn the dress she was wearing and wash her hair again and again.

Temple Sets Torah Rites

The Biblical Festival of the Eighth Day of Assembly (Sh'Meenae Ateret) which brings to a close Sukkot harvest festival, combined with Simhat-Torah (the Rejoicing in the Law) will be observed at Temple Shalom, Edgely Road, Levittown, with special family services today at 8 p.m. with Rabbi Robert Bergman officiating.

The service will be marked by processions with the Torah scrolls and flags crowned with apples carried by children from the fourth grade and up.

Younger children have been invited to participate in processions which will feature services tomorrow from 11 a.m. to noon. Also featured tomorrow will be the Yizkor memorial.

Following tonight's service, Rabbi and Mrs. Bergman will be hosts at a reception at the Temple in honor of the recent birth of their son, David Abraham Mordecai. Mrs. Netti Shapiro will bless the candles. A reception also will follow tomorrow morning's services.

Bristol Man Given Suspended Term

The Bucks County Criminal Court Jury last night found Richard Addeo, 900 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, guilty of fornication and non-support of an illegitimate child.

Addeo was given a suspended sentence on both charges and was placed on indefinite probation. He was also ordered to pay $6 a week for the support of the child.

Magee Agrees

Councilman James Magee, sitting in with the committee, said, "We can't possibly stand any cost like that; in one year, anyway."

The committeemen were in agreement with Mr. Magee. Committeeman Charles Elcock said the area should be "progressively improved" under the circumstances, but it was unanimously agreed that the committee would like to approve the requests immediately if it were possible.

Nicholas Mislan, president of Council and a member of the committee, and William Schriber, agreed with the decision to leave the matter open to the directors of the pool and see if they can come up with a different solution to make the improvements and still keep within the budget.

In other action, the parcel of land on Wood street and Pennsylvania avenue, offered the Borough for $1 for one year by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, took a new turn.

Seek More

Mr. Mislan suggested the Council ask the bridge commission if it wasn't possible to include in its offer another parcel of land at Wood street and Washington avenue.

The suggestion came after it was decided that the original parcel of land would hardly be suitable for playground use. The bridge commission offered to lease the land for that purpose.

It was suggested that the original parcel might be used for playground facilities for younger children, but would not be too satisfactory for older children, and it was agreed that the parcel on Washington and Wood would be satisfactory for both age groups.

Request

The committee delegated Borough Solicitor David Clarke to make a formal request to the bridge commission at the bi-state's monthly meeting, tomorrow.

Informed sources said the year-to-year lease offer by the bridge commission was one of the commission's new economy moves to cut down on excessive expenses.

Maintenance of the parcel would cost the Borough about $100 a year.

Rec Board Considers Dances For Youngsters

The Bristol Township Recreation board is considering holding Friday night dances for children between 8 and 12 years old, it was disclosed today by Louis R. Hahn, chairman.

Last night Herman E. Loewe, of 14 Indian Red road, Levittown, speaking for a group of parents who sponsored a series of dances last summer at the Indian Creek pool, asked the board for permission to use the Benjamin Franklin Junior high school to continue the dances during the summer.

He explained Friday night dances were held between 7:30 and 10:30 p.m. for children between 8 and 12 years old, with the co-operation of Little League personnel.

Saturday night were reserved for older children. The board advised Mr. Loewe

Crash Ignites Gas Pump

A driver was charged with reckless driving by Falls Township police after he lost control of the car he was driving and hit another one causing it to knock over a gas pump and catch fire this morning.

Robert Murphy, 23, of 24 Trent street, was traveling west on U.S. Route 1, near Fairless Hills and was attempting to pass another car traveling west driven by Willie M. Robinson, 23, of 112 Ewing street, Trenton. As he was passing Robinson, a truck appeared in the center lane and Murphy was faced with either hitting the truck or the car, he said.

As he swung back into the right lane, Robinson lost control of his vehicle and crashed into a gas pump at Porreca's Service Station.

The gas pump caught fire and it spread to Robinson's car.

Both the Fallington and Fairless Hills Fire companies responded to the alarm at 7:50 a.m. The right side of Murphy's auto was damaged and Robinson's was a total loss.

Neither man was injured in the mishap.

Patrolmen Lyle Gass and William Kershaw of the Falls Township police investigated.

5 U.S. Seamen To Train As Canal Pilots

CAIRO — UP — Five American seamen arrived today to train as Suez Canal pilots and help Egypt keep traffic moving through the vital waterway. They said their motive was "entirely non-political."

The Americans, who responded to a worldwide appeal from the new Egyptian Canal Authority, are Walter Equils, 45, New Kensington, Pa.; Elmo Holland, 43, Newport Beach, Calif.; Gregory Hatch, 48, San Jose, Calif.; Alex Langtre, 47, N. Y.; and Nico Hagens, Freeport, Long Island.

The five will begin their training tomorrow alongside 15 Soviet mariners to help fill the gap left by the mass resignation of at least 180 Western pilots Sept. 14. Two American pilots were among the non-Egyptian employees of the old Suez company who walked out.

Mr. Midouhas announced that George Sottung, former president of the Bristol township commissioners, is conducting a drive among food dealers for donations to stock the refreshment stands at the auction. Area automobile dealers, under the leadership of Ted Reedman, plan to contribute together to provide a new car to be auctioned.

Meanwhile, Dr. Walter G. Fortnum is making a drive for donations of antiques for the sale. The Bristol physician said he received one of his first offers yesterday, the result of a notice in the Courier and Times. Mrs. Sylvester Bryan, 90 Blue Ridge drive, Levittown offered a complete set of books by Ernest Hemingway.

Mr. Midouhas invited persons interested in working with his auction committee to meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Warren Snyder elementary school.

Collections of auction items will be made Oct. 1 and 2 in the Fourth Ward of Bristol, Mr. Farruggio announced; Oct. 3 and 4 in the Sixth Ward; Oct. 5 and 6 in the Fifth Ward and Oct. 8 and 9 in the First, Second and Third Wards.

Persons with items to pick up are asked to telephone STILLWELL 8-5596, with the exception of antique donors, who are asked to call Dr. Fortnum at STILLWELL 8-3900.

The trucking and taxi firms participating are:

Farruggio's Express, Bristol; Industrial Trucking Service, Croydon; Leo Movers, Mereddy Trucking, Inc., Bristol; John F. Scott Co., Morrisville; Horace F. Tranter, Newtown; Bunting - Bristol Transfer, Bristol.

AAA Trucking, Biter's Transfer, Shein's Express, Trenton, N. J.; Croydon Cab company, Croydon; Flum Taxi company, Grow Taxi Service and Windsor Taxi Service, Bristol.

Independent Vote Chairman Named

Philadelphia headquarters for the Clark-for-Senate committee, yesterday announced the appointment of John H. Wood, Jr., of Langhorne Manor, as Bucks County chairman of the organization of Independent Voters.

Supporting the candidacy of Joseph S. Clark, former mayor of Philadelphia, for the Senate, Mr. Wood stated that Mr. Clark's success in bringing to Philadelphia an honest, imaginative, and business-like administration during the first four years under the new city charter has given him a national reputation as the reason so many persons in Pennsylvania want to see him in the U. S. Senate.

Headquarters for the Volunteer Organization of Independent Voters, supporting Clark in Lower Bucks County, will open Friday evening at 207 Mill street, Bristol.

Scholarship Plan Set For Pennsbury

The $100,000 will of William H. Hayes, 71, of Lower Makefield township was probated yesterday in the county Register of Wills office and a clause is beneficial to Pennsbury Schools.

Hayes died on Sept. 16 and his will sets up three trusts which benefit his wife and sister.

The $100,000 figure was estimated for purposes of probate.

In addition to the trusts, he left all his personal property and insurance to his wife, Anna C. Hayes.

Fund Provision

The amount of money to be included in the trusts was not specifically stated, and there is a clause in the will whereby on the death of his wife and sister part of the estate will be used for a scholarship fund for students at Pennsbury High school.

In the first trust fund for his wife, Mr. Hayes stipulated that Trenton Trust company was to invest the money and to pay the income from the investments to his wife.

In the second trust fund, also to be administered by Trenton Trust company, the money, including the original investments is to be paid to Mrs. Hayes as she directs.

The residue of the estate is to go to Trenton Trust for investments and the income is to be paid to his sister, Dorothy B. Hayes, Yardley, and his wife.

The will stipulates that on the death of his wife and sister, the trust is to be used for "The William H. Hayes and Anna C. Hayes Memorial Scholarship Fund."

The scholarships will be given to students and graduates of Pennsbury High and will be determined by the chairman of the joint school boards, the regional superintendent, and the superintendent of the school.

Scholarship recipients will be chosen on financial need, character, and ability. Trenton Trust company is the executor of the estate.

Dave Struble Raps John McIlhinney

David H. Struble, Second Assembly District Democratic campaign manager, today lashed out at his Republican counterpart, John J. McIlhinney, as an "imported carpetbagger from out of the district."

"This", said Struble, "is because McIlhinney lives in the First Assembly district while his candidate is running in the Second district. 'Maybe,' continued Struble, 'McIlhinney is ashamed of his Republican candidates in his own district. Or, maybe there is no Republican in the Second district capable of running a campaign—hence they need a carpetbagger to do the work for them,' Struble declared.

Clothing Soliciting 'Not For Charity'

A Philadelphia firm soliciting Lower Bucks County homes for donations of clothing is not a charitable organization but sells the clothing for profit, the Better Business Bureau of Philadelphia said yesterday.

Verner S. Gaggin, general manager of the Bureau, said the company, Clothing Service of the Handicapped of Philadelphia, sells the clothing for a profit and is a "private commercial enterprise." The only way handicapped people benefit is that some physically handicapped persons are employed by the firm, Mr. Gaggin said.

Just the same we've got a hunch the Dodgers' old men will wrap it up. You note Sal Maglie's masterpiece last night?

Always tough to beat the pros when the pressure's the greatest. In any event, it won't be long until we know.

Eisenhower and Stevenson, a couple of old pros in their own right, begin swinging at each other.

The president in his Peoria speech scathingly indicts past and present Democratic policies while Adlai down in Miami does some pretty plain and straight-from-the-shoulder talking about segregation.

Looks like the campaign is beginning to warm up.

Also there's a bit of warming up being done right here in Bucks county, even though all of it isn't quite as above board as the voters themselves would wish.

We'll say one thing: The whole county should doff its hat to Judge Rubin for the way he's handling these drunk driving cases.

The jurist has been tossing the book at the tipsy boys and that should be most encouraging to other motorists as well as to police agencies over the entire county trying to drive the drunks off the highways.

United Community Fund campaign going into extra-high gear as date for the opening gun nears and it should be quite a drive.

It will be, never fear. And it will be because the public itself has never been known to let an essential and worthy cause down.

A change of lipstick now and then is relished by the best of men.

Then there was the New Yorker who went crazy in the Moscow subway. All the pictures already had mustaches.

If you drive, be careful.

Residential Drive Vital To United Fund Success

500 Civic Workers Set Initial Plans

Mrs. James Douglass
Readies Group For
Kickoff Monday Night

An intensive organizational effort for the Residential Division of the $603,000 United Community Fund campaign was under way today under the direction of Mrs. James S. Douglass, chairman for the division.

Mrs. Douglass met yesterday with her key district chairmen and under the guidance of United Fund Executive Director Adrian Hoffman mapped preliminary plans for the residential drive covering every community in Lower Bucks county.

More than 500 public-spirited men and women will make up Mrs. Douglass' drive personnel with this phase of the campaign regarded as one of the keys to success of the whole fund-raising effort.

Assisting Mrs. Douglass in creating the effective community organizations whose campaign will begin October 15, are Mrs. James Hiltner, of Morrisville; Mrs. Robert Hoff, of Cornwells Heights; Mrs. W. David Price, of Levittown, and Mrs. Robert A. Sheeran, of Wright's road, Newtown; Mrs.

Additional district chairmen will be appointed immediately and then community captains named.

Dinner At Flannery's
As Mrs. Douglass' division moved into high organizational gear, other divisions of the Lower Bucks county campaign team were getting ready for the general campaign kickoff next Monday.

The drive will be formally launched with a campaign dinner meeting at Flannery's with more than 200 leaders expected to attend, including division personnel and the scores of plant chairmen who have accepted responsibility in this greatest of United Fund efforts.

Complete details of the dinner will be announced tomorrow. Meantime optimism for success of the $603,000 campaign is building up. Campaign leaders today were convinced that goal will be reached. They insisted, of course, (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

'Dancing In The Nude'

2 Croydon Youths Placed On Probation For Enticing Girl

Two Croydon youths yesterday paid a costly price for a ring-side seat at which they watched a young girl "dancing in the nude."

The "performance" lasted intermittently over a 12-hour period, but the youths learned different words for it yesterday, "contributing to the delinquency of a minor."

The youths, John Kelly, 21, of First avenue and State road, and James Carmody, 19, of 1312 Dixons avenue, paid for it with a restriction on their liberty for the next two years.

Both were placed on 23 months parole by Judge I. Louis Rubin and were also ordered to pay costs of prosecution.

They admitted "watching" and dancing with a nude, 15-year-old Croydon girl on different occasions between 8 p.m. July 7 and 8:30 a.m. July 8.

The girl said she was "tricked into undressing" and that the boys "repeatedly tried to rape" her. The youths steadfastly said that "everything the girl did, she did of her own free will."

Formally Charged

They were formally charged with aggravated assault and battery with intent to ravish, assault and battery, indecent assault and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Father Questions Her

They refused to plead guilty to the three more serious charges but admitted the latter one.

Poquessing School Set To Open Soon

Meeting Tonight
Will Determine
Date For Students

The opening date for Lower Southampton's new Poquessing Elementary School, Feasterville, is expected to be announced tonight.

George Parker, school director, will meet with architects, contractors and school officials at the Poquessing Building, Street road and Bustleton pike, at 5 p.m. today.

At that time all remaining questions concerning the building's construction are expected to be solved, and an opening date set, explained John Paul, president of the Lower Southampton School Board.

However, only part of the new structure is expected to be used at first. Students which were to have attended the Poquessing school, but who are attending classes in five other Neshaminy buildings, will begin study in the new elementary school on the date to be set tonight.

Poquessing is the fourth elementary school for Lower Southampton township. The last one constructed was the Lower Southampton Elementary School on Bridgetown pike.

The township is also planning the construction of a junior high school next to the Poquessing building.

Public Employees Set $24,000 Goal

Officials of each of Lower Bucks County's boroughs and townships, with representatives of state, federal, military and social service agencies and public utilities will meet in Pennel tomorrow night to plan an expanded Public Service Division drive in the Bucks County United Community Fund.

Division Chairman Joseph F. Hiltner, manager of the Bristol office of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, said this will be the first time the drive in Lower Bucks has extended to employees of the local governments.

As leaders in Mr. Hiltner's Public Service division, the representatives will begin work Monday, opening day in the United Fund drive. Their goal is $24,000.

Nottingham VFW To Meet

Officials of the Nottingham Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7903 Auxiliary will make plans for a fortune-telling event tomorrow night at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Ted McCloskey, 2836 Windsor drive, Nottingham Village.

The event is scheduled for October 1, when a professional fortune teller will be on hand to "read" tales about anyone who wants to attend. It will be held in Mrs. McCloskey's home from noon on.

Donations will be accepted at the fund-raising fortune-telling affair, according to Mrs. Bernadette Sanders, publicity chairman.

Sen. Duff Rally

Festivities will start at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Republican Rally at the Edgely Fire Hall, with U. S. Senator James H. Duff as principal speaker. The senator's appearance will follow a helicopter tour of Bucks County.

Live It Up, Kids!

Neshaminy School directors were told last night that students in Neshaminy High School have a pessimistic attitude.

"They are more concerned with what they can't do than what they can do," said John Stoops, Neshaminy High School principal.

Mr. Stoops was unable to give a reason for this pessimistic attitude, but he reported that his staff was working to overcome the situation.

of the $603,000 total campaign goal in this year's Bucks County drive.

Drive Starts Monday
The campaign will be launched Monday night in simultaneous kickoff dinners in Lower, Middle and Upper Bucks county.

Noting that local government is becoming an increasingly bigger business in Lower Bucks County, with borough and township police, highway and other departments ever expanding to meet the needs of growing populations, Mr. Hiltner said the total work force now runs into the hundreds.

Each post office of Lower Bucks County is being asked to select a representative to solicit United Fund gifts from the employees.

Fire House Conversion Hits Snag

Three Obstacles
Stand In Way Of Shampton Project

Conversion of Southampton's old fire house, Second Street pike, to a radiator shop and service station has hit a three-pronged snag, Lloyd Burg, promoter of the project, reported today.

"We're really snafued for a while," said Mr. Burg, who operates a service station in the Feasterville-Southampton area and resides on Churchville road, Churchville.

Mr. Burg lists the re-construction and widening of Second Street pike as one reason for the delay. However, he hastened to add that the Southampton Post Office, which occupies a portion of the old fire hall, has yet to find a new home.

Southampton Unit Acquires Temporal Site

Volunteers Must
First Clear Away
Newspaper Bundles

The Southampton Volunteer Fire Company will turn its carnival building at Street and Churchville roads into a temporary fire house, it was announced today by Robert E. Robson, president.

The carnival building, which is located near the new fire house construction site, must be cleared of newspapers prior to the change. "The big question is where to store the papers," said Mr. Robson, who explained that the bundles are a result of the fire company's paper collection drive.

When the newspapers are removed, a space heater will be installed and a temporary siren hooked up, the president explained. These and other preparations must be made before the company's two engines are moved into the carnival building, he said.

Old Building Sold

The fire trucks are now housed in the old fire house at Second Street pike and Knowles avenue. The old building was sold to Lloyd Burg, of Churchville road, Churchville.

Mr. Robson said that the firemen believe it is only right that they move from the old fire hall, which is no longer theirs. "We feel we should get out as soon as possible," he said.

Mr. Robson urges anyone who knows of a storage place for the newspapers to contact fire officials. He suggested that an old trailer or perhaps something similar could be used.

The Southampton Fire Company also announced that its vice president, Leon F. Carlin, is recuperating in Abington Hospital. "We wish him the very best," said President Robson.

135 Lb. Prisoner Assaults 4 Guards

LEWISBURG, Pa., — UP — Lawrence Conklin of Worcester, Mass., serving a two year term for forgery at the federal penitentiary here, received an additional two years Tuesday for assaulting four guards, knocking out a tooth of one and blackening another's eye. The guards each weighed 200 pounds. Conklin weighed 135.

Heights Fireman Run Over By Truck, Has Leg Broken

Low Cost School Buildings Sought

The Falls Township School board voted to have Medill Bair, regional superintendent of the Pennsylvania School System, file plans in Harrisburg, seeking state approval on a series of low cost, eight classroom buildings to alleviate the crowded conditions in the township's large elementary schools.

Each building would consist of five rooms on each side of a corridor, eight of which would be used as classrooms, the other two for the heating plant, storage, and offices.

Mr. Bair estimated the buildings could be paid for by the board out of tax receipts.

Croydon Youths

to plead guilty, the district attorney's office agreed to withdraw all but the contributing to the delinquency charge, and the youths were tried on that one only.

The strange and sometimes startling case came to light on July 8, when the girl's father told Bristol Township Patrolman Wallace Michener she had been missing all night.

The girl returned home of her own volition on the morning of July 8, and police and her father questioned her.

She first said she stayed at a friend's house, but when her father threatened to take her to the friend, she told him what had happened.

In a statement to police, the girl said Kelly picked her up at 8 p. m. while her father was out. She said she and Kelly went along the Pennsylvania railroad after leaving the house and that Kelly tried to get her to go to his room.

Purchase Beer
Failing that, she said Kelly then suggested they attend a "party" at Carmody's house. Carmody's mother was in Cape May, N. J., at the time.

She agreed, and together with Carmody and another girl, they purchased some beer and returned to Carmody's house.

When Carmody took his girl home, Kelly and the 15-year-old remained at the house. At this point, she said Kelly forced her onto the living room floor and tried to rape her.

She said she struggled, but Kelly tore off her underclothes and then tried to get her to go to the bedroom with him.

"Led On"
The courtroom was filled with character witnesses for Kelly and Carmody, and those who testified said they both "enjoyed excellent reputations in the community." They said they knew of no other instances when the two had gotten into trouble with the police.

Carmody's mother also testified in his behalf.

Attorney William Goldman, Doylestown, their attorney, said "Let's say they were led on by this young lady."

He also said no purpose would be accomplished by sending them to jail.

Judge Rubin replied, "I'm tempted to send them to jail, but I'm taking into consideration the fact that they've never been in trouble before."

The judge warned, however, that he was "serving notice that any woman under 16 years isn't fair game, even though she represents herself as 'tough.'"

A Treose Heights fireman was run over by a fire truck last night after he fell from the moving vehicle.

Angelo Zilli, 25, of Buttonwood and Spruce streets, Oakford, was reported in fair condition by Lower Bucks County Hospital officials today. He suffered a fractured leg and multiple cuts and bruises.

The fireman was injured after he ran to jump aboard the moving engine, which had just left the Elmwood avenue fire house. He lost his grip, fell and his right leg was broken when the engine rolled over it, it was reported by the Treose Heights Rescue Squad.

The pumper truck was on its way to a railroad fire on the Reading line, between the Neshaminy Falls and Treose stations. The fire was fought by both the Treose and Treose Heights volunteer fire companies. It was extinguished in about 30 minutes, according to a spokesman for the Treose Company.

The blaze resulted from the day-time burning of ties by railroad workmen.

An ambulance of the Treose Heights Rescue Squad was following the engine which injured Zilli, and rescue workers immediately picked up the injured man and rushed him to Lower Bucks County hospital.

Officials of the Treose company today urged people to keep at least 500 feet away from traveling fire engines. "Too many persons got much too close to the engines last night," said Norman Glover, publicity director. "They are required to stay 500 feet away by law," he added.

An unidentified motorist was so affected by the sight he was unable to drive home. John Curran, 1139 Buttonwood street, Andalusia, ran away when the youths drove up to him and asked for directions to the river.

Delhaas Adds 7 Courses

With registration for the Delhaas Adult School of Education scheduled to begin tonight, seven new courses have been added to the curriculum, it was announced today by Robert Fraser, director of secondary education.

The classes were added at a meeting of Fraser and several faculty member, who offered to teach the new courses last night.

The new classes are: basic bridge instruction, modern dance, metal craft and jewelry, citizenship, conversational Spanish, mathematics and drugs and solutions, and shop math and blueprinting reading.

Those are in addition to 11 other courses originally scheduled: Typing, advance typing, beginning shorthand, advance shorthand, gardening, oil and water colors, woodworking, sewing, English skills, math refresher, and office practice.

A second registration date has been set for Oct. 2 at the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School. Classes will begin Oct. 10 at the high school.

Tonight's registration, to be held between 7:30 and 9 p.m. at the high school, located on Route 413, will be held in conjunction with the Parent-Teachers Association's Family night.

At the same time Fraser announced that a future needs survey would also be taken tonight. Questionnaires would be circulated asking the best time for classes and suggestions for other classes.

Mr. Burg, Construction at the new fire station, which is being picked by union supporters, has been slower than anticipated.

He said it was impossible at this time to say when the three stumbling blocks would be removed, permitting the start of work on the service station.

Previously, Mr. Burg said he would allow the Southampton Fire Company to occupy the building until completion of the new fire house at Street and Churchill roads.

Postal officials disclosed late last month that they were seeking land on which to build a new post office.

Gov. Leader Denies Charges By Bloom

HARRISBURG — UP — Gov. George M. Leader said that the state is continuing its policy of retaining "hardship" cases in state employment, regardless of their politics.

The governor denied a news conference yesterday that any rapid turnover is being made among so-called holdover employees in this election year.

"I said people who had special problems would be given special consideration," Leader said. "There are at least 25 or 30 cleaning women, 'hardship' cases and they are being retained."

Leader was referring to a charge made yesterday by Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom that some cleaning women in state offices were fired because they were unable to buy $50 tickets to the recent Demo-

Giant Truck Fleet To Aid 275th Sale

A giant fleet of trucks, tractor-trailers and taxicabs will go to work in the Bristol area next week, delivering goods to the Canberra plant of Kaiser Metal Products, Inc., for the Oct. 13 auction sale.

Planned to raise community spirit while raising funds, the big sale will be one of two unprecedented events opening the week-long celebration of Bristol's 275th anniversary. On the same day, ten historic houses in the borough will be opened to the public.

Auction Chairman Stephen P. Midouhas announced today that a committee of truckers and taxi operators headed by Samuel J. Farruggio, of Bristol, have volunteered their services to deliver the auction wares.

Residents of Bristol and vicinity are being asked to donate saleable goods to the auction. Thomas James, plant manager of the Superior Zinc Corp. heads a committee asking local industries to donate some of their wares for the sale.

Mr. Midouhas announced that George Sottung, former president of the Bristol township commissioners, is conducting a drive among food dealers for donations to stock the refreshment stands at the auction. Area automobile dealers, under the leadership of Ted Reedman, plan to contribute together to provide a new car to be auctioned.

Meanwhile, Dr. Walter G. Fortnum is making a drive for donations of antiques for the sale. The Bristol physician said he received one of his first offers yesterday, the result of a notice in the Courier and Times. Mrs. Sylvester Bryan, 90 Blue Ridge drive, Levittown offered a complete set of books by Ernest Hemingway.

Mr. Midouhas invited persons interested in working with his auction committee to meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Warren Snyder elementary school.

Collections of auction items will be made Oct. 1 and 2 in the Fourth Ward of Bristol, Mr. Farruggio announced; Oct. 3 and 4 in the Sixth Ward; Oct. 5 and 6 in the Fifth Ward and Oct. 8 and 9 in the First, Second and Third Wards.

Persons with items to pick up are asked to telephone Stillwell 8-5396, with the exception of antique donors, who are asked to call Dr. Fortnum at Stillwell 8-3900.

The trucking and taxi firms participating are:

Farruggio's Express, Bristol; Industrial Trucking Service, Croydon; Leo Movers, Meredith Trucking, Inc., Bristol; John F. Scott Co., Morrisville; Horace F. Tranter, Newtown; Bunting - Bristol Transfer, Bristol.

AAA Trucking, Biter's Transfer, Shein's Express, Trenton, N. J.; Croydon Cab company, Croydon; Flum Taxi company, Grow Taxi Service and Windsor Taxi Service, Bristol.

Bristol Man Given Suspended Term

The Bucks County Criminal Court jury last night found Richard Addeo, 900 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, guilty of fornication and non-support of an illegitimate child.

Addeo was given a suspended sentence on both charges and was placed on indefinite probation. He was also ordered to pay $6 a week for the support of the child.

5 U.S. Seamen To Train As Canal Pilots

CAIRO — UP — Five American seamen arrived today to train as Suez Canal pilots and help Egypt keep traffic moving through the vital waterway. They said their motive was "entirely non-political."

The Americans, who responded to a worldwide appeal from the new Egyptian Canal Authority, are Walter Equils, 45, New Kensington, Pa.; Elmo Holland, 43, Newport Beach, Cal.; Gregory Hatch, 48, San Jose, Calif.; Alex Langtry, 47, N. Y.; and Nico Hagens, Freeport, Long Island.

The five will begin their training tomorrow alongside 15 Soviet mariners to help fill the gap left by the mass resignation of at least 180 Western pilots Sept. 14. Two American pilots were among the non-Egyptian employees of the old Suez company who walked out.

Bowen Named Span Counsel

James C. Bowen, Bucks County Democratic Chairman, has been appointed Pennsylvania counsel for the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, through its executive director George L. Feaster. Mr. Bowen will serve as counsel at an annual retainer of $3,000.

Mr. Bowen, 39, of Sellersville, will be associated in his new assignment with Alfred W. Weiss, Alpha, N. J., recently appointed New Jersey counsel.

The new counsels replace three former counsel appointees to the commission who served at $3,000 each on an annual basis. The new appointments of Mr. Bowen and Weiss, reflect an annual saving of $3,000 in the new re-organization program now under way in the commission's administration, Director Feaster said.

Mr. Bowen is married and he and his wife have three children, Sally Lou 5, William 3, and James Christopher 3 months. The new counsel has law offices in Sellersville and in Doylestown.

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania law school, Mr. Bowen was admitted to the bar in 1949. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the Pennsylvania Bar Association, and the Bucks County Bar Association. He served in the Naval Air Corps during World War II, where he held the rank of ensign.

Stanwood Group Hears Chief Talk

Police Chief William Riemp of Bensalem township was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Stanwood Civic association last night.

The chief reviewed the accomplishments of the Bensalem Police since they gained jurisdiction from the State Police three years ago.

He also spoke of the present activities and future plans of the force. He emphasized the dire need for added facilities.

"The growth of the force must keep pace with the rapid rate of population growth of the Township," he said. "Our need is not only for more officers, but more facilities as well. Police work is only as effective as its facilities," the Chief said.

Board Hears Figures Noted By PTA Head

Neshaminy school directors were asked last night to help rid the school system of "near empty" libraries.

About $20,000 is needed to complete the Neshaminy Junior High School library, and about $10,000 to complete the senior high library, George Fox, president of the Neshaminy PTA, told the school directors.

Mr. Fox, who said these figures were derived from a recent survey, called on the directors to work with the PTA in an effort to find a solution to the problem.

John Paul, president of the Neshaminy joint board, called on the member boards to discuss the situation in individual sessions. He said a library committee would be established at the next joint meeting.

Lack of Public Libraries

"Our libraries will have to be better than those in Philadelphia schools because of our lack of public libraries," said Mr. Fox. He also mentioned that two new junior high schools are planned for the Neshaminy district, each of which will need library books.

Dr. Oliver Heckman, superintendent, stressed the need of money for books. "We'll take any money we can get," he said.

In other business last night, the directors agreed to establish a new information system. Such a plan, as outlined by Mr. Paul, would enable the directors to know more of what goes on within the schools.

Two Committees
Mr. Paul called for two committees, which would be part of this new system. One would be a policy committee, in which the duties of all school personnel would be outlined. The other would deal with elementary and secondary education, and would study the types of education given the pupils.

It was also announced last night that Dorothy Mugge, a school supervisor from California, has been employed as an elementary supervisor in the Neshaminy system. Her employment was necessitated by the opening of the Walter Miller school, Middletown township, Levittown.

Miss Mugge is a graduate of Iowa State Teachers college and Columbia University. She has taught in Germany and Japan, it was reported.

Dave Struble Raps John McIlhinney

David H. Struble, Second Assembly District Democratic campaign manager, today lashed out at his Republican counterpart, John J. McIlhinney, as an "imported carpetbagger from out of the district."

Struble, who is heading the reelection bid of Assemblyman A. Patrick Brennan, pointed out that McIlhinney, is campaign manager. "This," said Struble, "is because McIlhinney lives in the First Assembly district while his candidate is running in the Second district. 'Maybe' continued Struble.

"McIlhinney is ashamed of his Republican candidates in his own district. Or, maybe there is no Republican in the Second district capable of running a campaign—hence they need a carpetbagger to do the work for them," Struble declared.

Last Murder Hoax Prankster Leaves Jail In Bristol

The last of four youths arrested and fined for his part in a "trunk murder" hoax was released from Bristol Borough jail last night upon payment of a $100 fine and $7.50 costs.

Edward Creamer, 18, of 303 Wallace avenue, Cornwells Heights, fines on disorderly conduct charges to Bensalem and Bristol township authorities.

At the same time, four of five juveniles who took part in the hoax which terrified numerous Lower Bucks County residents and motorists were released by county juvenile authorities and sent home after a severe lecture.

Probation

The fifth juvenile, who had been on probation, is still being held in the County Detention Home, near Doylestown.

Officials of both townships say there is no accurate way to determine how much the prank cost the townships.

But they pointed out police were kept busy for more than an hour trying to round up the youths, who rode around with a "blood splattered arm" dangling from the trunk of their car.

Other Calls

In addition, the Bristol Township radio dispatcher and Bensalem JP Albert H. Schultz were deluged with calls from residents.

The practical joke proved expensive to the youths. George Scheifer, 19, of Station avenue, Cornwells Heights, paid $156.50 in fines and court costs for his part in the escapade. The fines were $107.50 to JP Tritschler for violation of the Bristol Township disorderly conduct ordinance; $19 to JP Schultz for disorderly conduct in Bensalem township, and $30 for reckless driving to JP Schultz.

Scheifer was held overnight in the Bristol borough jail until 10 a.m. yesterday because he could not immediately pay his penalty.

Pay $126.50

Creamer and Robert Trommer, was released when his parents paid the fine to JP Rene Tritschler, Croydon, at 7 p.m. yesterday.

'Dancing In The Nude'

2 Croydon Youths Placed On Probation For Enticing Girl

Two Croydon youths yesterday paid a costly price for a ring-side seat at which they watched a young girl "dancing in the nude."

The "performance" lasted intermittently over a 12-hour period, but the youths learned different words for it yesterday, "contributing to the delinquency of a minor."

The youths, John Kelly, 21, of First avenue and State road, and James Carmody, 19, of 1312 Dixon avenue, paid for it with a

Residential Drive Vital To United Fund Success

500 Civic Workers Set Initial Plans

Mrs. James Douglass Readies Group For Kickoff Monday Night

An intensive organizational effort for the Residential Division of the $603,000 United Community Fund campaign was under way today under the direction of Mrs. James S. Douglass, chairman for the division.

Mrs. Douglass met yesterday with her key district chairmen and under the guidance of United Fund Executive Director Adrian Hoffman mapped preliminary plans for the residential drive covering every community in Lower Bucks county.

More than 500 public-spirited men and women will make up Mrs. Douglass' drive personnel with this phase of the campaign regarded as one of the keys to success of the whole fund-raising effort.

Assisting Mrs. Douglass in creating the effective community organizations whose campaign will begin October 15, are Mrs. James Hiltner, of Morrisville; Mrs. Robert Hoff, of Cornwells Heights; Mrs. W. David Price, of Levittown, and Mrs. Robert A. Sheeran, of Newtown.

Additional district chairmen will be appointed immediately and then community captains named.

Dinner At Flannery's

As Mrs. Douglass' division moved into high organizational gear, other divisions of the Lower Bucks county campaign team were getting ready for the general campaign kickoff next Monday.

The drive will be formally launched with a campaign dinner meeting at Flannery's with more than 200 leaders expected to attend, including division personnel and the scores of plant chairmen who have accepted responsibility

Flossy's Rain Due Here Tonight

Hurricane Flossy was forecast to blow and rain on Lower Bucks County today and tonight while passing off the New Jersey Coast. The U. S. Weather Bureau said Flossy, now off the Carolina Coast, should pass clear of this area with only a comparatively mild "backlash."

Tomorrow's forecast calls for slowly clearing weather.

The wind and rain may be heavy here, however, in eastern counties of Pennsylvania.

Douglass; Mrs. Jams Hiltner, of Morrisville, and Mrs. Robert Hoff, of Cornwells Heights. The luncheon meeting was held yesterday at Mrs. Douglass' home on Radcliffe street, Bristol. (Courier and Times Photo)

Pool Request Turned Down In Morrisville

Lack of Finances Causes Refusal By Council Committee

We don't have the money.

That was the story last night at a meeting of the public properties committee in rejecting the Morrisville Community Swimming Pool Commission's request for extensive improvements of the swimming pool park area.

Public Properties Committee Chairman Neal Nolan told his committee that the request for piping alone would cost $6,000. "That coupled with $1,735 for an improved black-top parking area, would make the project entirely out of the question for this year and maybe next year, too."

The Commission had requested that Williamson Park be converted into a well-rounded recreational area by extending northward and possibly southward the large pipe now piping the back channel, and eliminating the ditch on the north side of the pool area.

Parking Area

The Commission also requested the park area on the south side of the pool be black-topped for a parking area. The Commissioners also asked for grass planting, playground equipment, and benches and tables.

Mr. Nolan, in rejecting the requests, said that there is nothing the committee would like to recommend to council better than the requested improvements, but, "We have no money at the present time."

He said the creek bed has to

Public Employees Set $24,000 Goal

Officials of each of Lower Bucks County's boroughs and townships, with representatives of state, federal, military and social service agencies and public utilities will meet in Pennel tomorrow night to plan an expanded Public Service Division drive in the Bucks County United Community Fund.

Division Chairman Joseph F. Hulihan, manager of the Bristol office of the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, said this will be the first time the drive in Lower Bucks has extended to employees of the local governments.

As leaders in Mr. Hulihan's Public Service division, the representatives will begin work Monday, opening day in the United Fund drive. Their goal is $24,000 of the $603,000 total campaign goal in this year's Bucks County drive.

Drive Starts Monday

The campaign will be launched Monday night in simultaneous kickoff dinners in Lower, Middle and Upper Bucks county.

Noting that local government is becoming an increasingly bigger business in Lower Bucks County, with borough and township police, highway and other departments ever expanding to meet the needs of growing populations, Mr. Hulihan said the total work force now runs into the hundreds.

Each post office of Lower Bucks County is being asked to select a representative to solicit United Fund gifts from the employees.

Gov. Leader Asked To Aid Rt. 13 Talks

County commissioners announced yesterday that they have requested a meeting with Gov. George Leader and the secretary of highways to discuss the proposed extension of Route 13 to Yardley.

The commissioners have received no answer to date, but they expect to have a hearing on the matter shortly.

The request to Gov. Leader was prompted by many telegrams opposing the extension which were sent to the commissioners.

Chief Objection

Chief objection, according to the commissioners, is that the extension, dubbed Legislative Route 778-4, would cut into "the fine residential area of Lower Makefield and Yardley."

The commissioners said the county planning commission has had an alternate Route "on the boards" for years, but the state

Board Urges Purchase Of Silver Lake

County Commissioners Asked To Buy Twp. Site For Park Program

A major step was taken Monday night at the meeting of the Bucks County Park Board when it voted to recommend to the county commissioners to purchase Silver Lake in Bristol township from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

In addition, the board voted last week to recommend that $15,000 of its 1956 funds be set aside to match a like amount to be furnished by Bristol township and Bristol borough to improve recreational facilities at Silver Lake.

"The board felt, that because of the wide interest in improving Silver Lake and its present but unauthorized use for recreational purposes, it would be a good first step in developing a long-range park program for the county," Chairman William F. Taylor said.

Steel Tax Appeal Set For Court

Action Taken As Bucks Board Rejects Plea On Higher Assessment

Dissatisfied with the rejection of their tax assessment appeals by the Bucks County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes, Falls township officials plan to ask the court to overrule the county group.

Chairman Milton Berkes, of the township supervisors, said his board has instructed the township solicitor to prepare a court appeal and confer with the school board solicitor on joint action. Mr. Berkes said the other two township board members have agreed they should continue to press their appeal on the assessment of the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp.

John T. Welsh, chairman of the county tax board, yesterday announced the rejection of the Falls appeals of 1957 tax assessments on the steel plant and on the Thriftmart and Fairless Hills Shopping Center.

Figures Upheld

Mr. Welsh commented only that the figures of Chief County Assessor James Nealis were upheld, and that the county board has the owners' receipts for building and land costs, from which the assessments were made.

The school board had joined the supervisors in appealing the Fairless Works assessment, and also contested the figures on Thriftmart and the Shopping Center.

The steel plant is assessed at a $75,221,500 market value, the shopping center at $1,267,800.

Appeals by the school board and supervisors were heard by the county board in Doylestown last Friday.

Alvan Neeld, school board president, this morning said he personally favors following through with the appeal, and will soon discuss it with his board.

"My personal opinion is that the assessments are too low," Mr. Neeld said. "We have felt that way all along."

Mr. Berkes said he was informed of the steel plant appeal's rejection by a letter postmarked at 6 p.m. last Friday.

"The appeal hearing began at 9 a.m. Friday and was through at 11 o'clock," Mr. Berkes said. "The county board heard the appeals on the Thriftmart and Fairless Hills Shopping Center that afternoon. In question whether they gave it sufficient consideration, I

Low Cost School Sought By Falls

The Falls Township School board voted to have Medil Bair, regional superintendent of the Pennsylvania School System, file plans in Harrisburg, seeking state approval on a series of low cost, eight classroom buildings to alleviate the crowded conditions in the township's large elementary schools.

It was pointed out by school board members, that all possible plans and types of buildings will be explored in case the state did not approve the plan envisioned.

to plead guilty, the district attorney's office agreed to withdraw all but the contributing to the delinquency charge, and the youths were tried on that one only.

The strange and sometimes startling case came to light on July 8, when the girl's father told Bristol Township Patrolman Wallace Michener she had been missing all night.

The girl returned home of her own volition on the morning of July 8, and police and her father questioned her.

She first said she stayed at a friend's house, but when her father threatened to take her to the friend, she told him what had happened.

In a statement to police, the girl said Kelly picked her up at 8 p. m. while her father was out.

She said she and Kelly went along the Pennsylvania railroad after leaving the house and that Kelly tried to get her to go to his room.

Purchase Beer

Falling that, she said Kelly then suggested they attend a "party" at Carmody's house. Carmody's mother was in Cape May, N. J., at the time.

She agreed, and together with Carmody and another girl, they purchased some beer and returned to Carmody's house.

When Carmody took his girl home, Kelly and the 15-year-old remained at the house. At this point, she said Kelly forced her onto the living room floor and tried to rape her.

She said she struggled, but Kelly tore off her underclothes and then tried to get her to go to the bedroom with him.

"Led On"

The courtroom was filled with character witnesses for Kelly and Carmody, and those who testified said they both "enjoyed excellent reputations in the community." They said they knew of no other instances when the two had gotten into trouble with the police.

Carmody's mother also testified in his behalf.

Attorney William Goldman, Doylestown, their attorney, said "Let's say they were led on by this young lady."

He also said no purpose would be accomplished by sending them to jail.

Judge Rubin replied, "I'm tempted to send them to jail, but I'm taking into consideration the fact that they've never been in trouble before."

The judge warned, however, that he was "serving notice that any woman under 16 years isn't fair game, even though she represents herself as 'tough.'"

Women of Christ Lutheran church, Lakeside drive, held a "come-as-you-are" breakfast this morning in the Sunday School rooms of the building. Members of the committee planning the affair held the date a surprise until this morning when they knocked on the door of each member's home and told them to come to the breakfast dressed as they were. Thirty adults and 17 children attended the affair. Buns, coffee, and milk were served. Housecoats and pajamas predominated.

Mrs. Rosinola, 63 Rolling lane, went to visit her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Bennett, 59 Rolling lane, recently.

Upon entering the Bennett garage, the amazed Mrs. Rosinola came face to face with a not so coy little skunk. After a nip and tuck fight she finally caught it. But the animal didn't appreciate Mrs. Rosinola's generous intentions to return him to his natural environment.

You can guess what happened. Of course, Mrs. Rosinola had to burn the dress she was wearing and wash her hair again and again.

Temple Sets Torah Rites

The Biblical Festival of the Eighth Day of Assembly (Sh'Meenec Atseret) which brings to a close Sukkoth harvest festival, combined with Simhat-Torah (the Rejoicing in the Law) will be observed at Temple Shalom, Edgely Road, Levittown, with special family services today at 8 p.m. with Rabbi Robert Bergman officiating.

The service will be marked by processions with the Torah scrolls and flags crowned with apples carried by children from the fourth grade and up.

Younger children have been invited to participate in processions which will feature services tomorrow from 11 a.m. to noon. Also featured tomorrow will be the Yizkor memorial.

Following tonight's service, Rabbi and Mrs. Bergman will be hosts at a reception at the Temple in honor of the recent birth of their son, David Abraham Mordecai. Mrs. Netti Shapiro will bless the candles. A reception also will follow tomorrow morning's services.

Bristol Man Given Suspended Term

The Bucks County Criminal Court Jury last night found Richard Addeo, 900 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, guilty of fornication and non-support of an illegitimate child.

Addeo was given a suspended sentence on both charges and was placed on indefinite probation. He was also ordered to pay $6 a week for the support of the child.

be piped out and not filled in, making necessary the $6,000 estimated cost of the pipe extension.

Magee Agrees

Councilman James Magee, sitting in with the committee, said, "We can't possibly stand any cost like that; in one year, anyway."

The committeemen were in agreement with Mr. Magee. Committeeman Charles Elcock said the area should be "progressively improved" under the circumstances, but it was unanimously agreed that the committee would like to approve the requests immediately if it were possible.

Nicholas Mislan, president of Council and a member of the committee, and William Schriber, agreed with the decision to leave the matter open to the directors of the pool and see if they can come up with a different solution to make the improvements and still keep within the budget.

In other action, the parcel of land on Wood street and Pennsylvania avenue, offered the Borough for $1 for one year by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, took a new turn.

Seek More

Mr. Mislan suggested the Council ask the bridge commission if it wasn't possible to include in its offer another parcel of land at Wood street and Washington avenue.

The suggestion came after it was decided that the original parcel of land would hardly be suitable for playground use. The bridge commission offered to lease the land for that purpose.

It was suggested that the original parcel might be used for playground facilities for younger children, but would not be too satisfactory for older children, and it was agreed that the parcel on Washington and Wood would be satisfactory for both age groups.

Request

The committee delegated Borough Solicitor David Clarke to make a formal request to the bridge commission at the bi-state's monthly meeting, tomorrow.

Informed sources said the year-to-year lease offer by the bridge commission was one of the commission's new economy moves to cut down on excessive expenses.

Maintenance of the parcel would cost the Borough about $100 a year.

Giant Truck Fleet To Aid 275th Sale

A giant fleet of trucks, tractor-trailers and taxicabs will go to work in the Bristol area next week, delivering goods to the Canberra plant of Kaiser Metal Products, Inc., for the Oct. 13 auction sale.

Planned to raise community spirit while raising funds, the big sale will be one of two unprecedented events opening the week-long celebration of Bristol's 275th anniversary. On the same day, ten historic houses in the borough will be opened to the public.

Auction Chairman Stephen P. Midouhas announced today that a committee of truckers and taxi operators headed by Samuel J. Farruggio, of Bristol, have volunteered their services to deliver the auction wares.

Residents of Bristol and vicinity are being asked to donate saleable goods to the auction. Thomas James, plant manager of the Superior Zinc Corp. heads a committee asking local industries to donate some of their wares for the sale.

Mr. Midouhas announced that George Soltung, former president of the Bristol township commissioners, is conducting a drive among food dealers for donations to stock the refreshment stands at the auction. Area automobile dealers, under the leadership of Ted Reedman, plan to contribute together to provide a new car to be auctioned.

Meanwhile, Dr. Walter G. Fortum is making a drive for donations of antiques for the sale. The Bristol physician said he received one of his first offers yesterday, the result of a notice in the Courier and Times. Mrs. Sylvester Bryan, 90 Blue Ridge drive, Levittown offered a complete set of books by Ernest Hemingway.

Mr. Midouhas invited persons interested in working with his auction committee to meet to night at 8 o'clock at the Warren Snyder elementary school.

Collections of auction items will be made Oct. 1 and 2 in the Fourth Ward of Bristol. Mr. Farruggio announced; Oct. 3 and 4 in the Sixth Ward; Oct. 5 and 6 in the Fifth Ward and Oct. 8 and 9 in the First, Second and Third Wards.

Persons with items to pick up are asked to telephone Stillwell 8-5596, with the exception of antique donors, who are asked to call Dr. Fortum at Stillwell 8-3900.

The trucking and taxi firms participating are: Farruggio's Express, Bristol; Industrial Trucking Service, Croydon; Leo Movers, Mereday Trucking, Inc., Bristol; John F. Scott Co., Morrisville; Horace F. Tranter, Newtown; Bunting - Bristol Transfer, Bristol.

AAA Trucking, Biter's Transfer, Shein's Express, Trenton, N. J.; Croydon C.A.B. company, Croydon; Plum Taxi company, Grow Taxi Service and Windsor Taxi Service, Bristol.

Independent Vote Chairman Named

Philadelphia headquarters for the Clark-for-Senate committee, yesterday announced the appointment of John H. Wood, Jr., of Langhorne Manor, as Bucks County chairman of the organization of Independent Voters.

Supporting the candidacy of Joseph S. Clark, former mayor of Philadelphia, for the Senate, Mr. Wood stated that Mr. Clark's success in bringing to Philadelphia an honest, imaginative, and business-like administration during the first four years under the new city charter has given him a national reputation as the reason so many persons in Pennsylvania want to see him in the U. S. Senate.

Headquarters for the Volunteer Organization of Independent Voters, supporting Clark in Lower Bucks County, will open Friday evening at 207 Mill street, Bristol.

5 U.S. Seamen To Train As Canal Pilots

CAIRO — UP — Five American seamen arrived today to train as Suez Canal pilots and help Egypt keep traffic moving through the vital waterway. They said their motive was "entirely non-political."

The Americans, who responded to a worldwide appeal from the new Egyptian Canal Authority, are Walter Equils, 45, New Kensington, Pa.; Elmo Holland, 43, Newport Beach, Calif.; Gregory Hatch, 48, San Jose, Calif.; Alex Langtrety, 47, N. Y.; and Nico Hagens, Freeport, Long Island.

The five will begin their training tomorrow alongside 15 Soviet mariners to help fill the gap left by the mass resignation of at least 180 Western pilots Sept. 14. Two American pilots were among the non-Egyptian employees of the old Suez company who walked out.

Scholarship Plan Set For Pennsbury

The $100,000 will of William H. Hayes, 71, of Lower Makefield township was probated yesterday in the county Register of Wills office and a clause is beneficial to Pennsbury Schools.

Hayes died on Sept. 16 and his will sets up three trusts which benefit his wife and sister.

The $100,000 figure was estimated for purposes of probate. In addition to the trusts, he left all his personal property and insurance to his wife, Anna C. Hayes.

Fund Provision

The amount of money to be included in the trusts was not specifically stated, and there is a clause in the will whereby on the death of his wife and sister part of the estate will be used for a scholarship fund for students at Pennsbury High school.

In the first trust fund for his wife, Mr. Hayes stipulated that Trenton Trust company was to invest the money and to pay the income from the investments to his wife.

In the second trust fund, also to be administered by Trenton Trust company, the money, including the original investments is to be paid to Mrs. Hayes as she directs.

The residue of the estate is to go to Trenton Trust for investments and the income is to be paid to his sister, Dorothy B. Hayes, Yardley, and his wife.

The will stipulates that on the death of his wife and sister, the trust is to be used for "The William H. Hayes and Anna C. Hayes Memorial Scholarship Fund."

The scholarships will be given to students and graduates of Pennsbury High and will be determined by the chairman of the joint school boards, the regional superintendent, and the superintendent of the school.

Scholarship recipients will be chosen on financial need, character, and ability. Trenton Trust company is the executor of the estate.

Dave Struble Raps John McIlhinney

David H. Struble, Second Assembly District Democratic campaign manager, today lashed out at his Republican counterpart, John J. McIlhinney, as an "imported carpetbagger from out of the district."

"This," said Struble, "is because McIlhinney lives in the First Assembly district while his candidate is running in the Second district. 'Maybe,' continued Struble, 'McIlhinney is ashamed of his Republican candidates in his own district. Or, maybe there is no Republican in the Second district capable of running a campaign—hence they need a carpetbagger to do the work for them,' Struble declared.

Clothing Soliciting 'Not For Charity'

A Philadelphia firm soliciting Lower Bucks County homes for donations of clothing is not a charitable organization but sells the clothing for profit, the Better Business Bureau of Philadelphia said yesterday.

Verner S. Gaggin, general manager of the Bureau, said the company, Clothing Service of the Handicapped of Philadelphia, sells the clothing for a profit and is a "private commercial enterprise." The only way handicapped people benefit is that some physically handicapped persons are employed by the firm, Mr. Gaggin said.
